June 2006 Website Archives

Beard Aid

Thousands of orphaned hairs need a good home. Are you willing to take them in? David Bellamy has done the decent thing. Grizzly Adams is a Beard Aid legend.

Cloth UK

Cloth UK will make you a chair, sofa or – well – just about anything, upholstered with fabric printed with the photo of your choice. Clever.

Gallery Of The Absurd

What do you get if you take all that silly celebrity gossip and turn it in to fine art? This glorious site, is the answer.

Hasselhoff To Number 1

We could hardly ignore this campaign. Sign up here and – Hoff willing – our hero will have a UK number one before the summer's out.

Hotel Surplus

We all love staying in hotels, and now we can create that real hotel feel at home thanks to these guys, who sell the tackiest second hand hotel art and furniture for less than the price of a Travel Lodge broom cupboard.

Little Drummer Boy

He's a baby. He's a drummer. And he's damn good. Browse this site for proof that babies rock, and watch a video of his latest epic solo.

Make Monsters

These guys turn themselves into fantastic monsters and aliens and then show you how to do it. Fancy dress parties will never be the same.

Merit Badges

This week's fantastic photo-shopping competition, on the theme of merit badges. You know, the things you earn for being good at something.

National Scrutiny Agency

It's simple. Send in a questions and they will answer it. Like: boxers or briefs? Or what should I get my wife for her birthday?

Nothing To See Here

Nothing To See Here is a guide to all those attractions that are not very attractive, and places of interest that may not be all that interesting. There's a bucket full of charm here, though.

Office Gadgets

The ten strangest office gadgets ever. You may prefer the iPod tie. We like the blowfly alarm clock, that wakes you up then flies around the room until you catch it.

Popgadget

Yes, it's another gadget blog, but this one deals with the fun, quirky sort of stuff that women like, rather than the boring nerdy things that men are into.

Rate My In-Laws

There are lots of rating sites on the net, where people send in photos of themselves, their body parts or their pets and have the world mark them out of ten. This one's dedicated to in-laws.

Sand Fantasy

A whole page of sand fantasy video clips, where arty people do something very clever in a sand pit, and set it to music.

Square America

If you like looking at old photos, and you have a thing for America, Square America features, well, old photos of America. Not professional photos, though, just ghostly old snapshots.

Stick Scene

A great little site full of simple, movie-related puzzles. Will keep you going for – ooh – about a month.

Supergoose

A chance to follow the migratory marathon of ten super geese as they traverse the globe. That might sound a bit nerdy, but trust us, it's good.

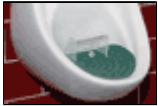

Supernatural

A fantastic gallery of all that is strange, supernatural, freaky and weird...with a little bit of the grotesque thrown in for good measure.

UFOs

UFOs are everywhere. Even near Tower Bridge. We now have the pictures to prove it.

Wee Goals

Celebrate England's triumphant passage to the World Cup final (note: Office Attachments cannot be held responsible for any subsequent on-field humiliation) with one of these.
